

ABSTRACT

It is disclosed a method for producing thermo-insulating cylindrical vacuum panels starting from planar panels, which comprises subjecting the planar panel (1) to a calendering operation, passing it through at least two rollers (2, 3) and a third element (4).